

The yearbooks that showcased the 2008-2009 sorority year were all beautiful, with careful and time-consuming work going into each one that was entered. Because they were, and always are, so fabulous, it falls to the judges to find a little something extra that makes the winning books stand out, a special pop. It was not an easy task, but we think you will enjoy our selections. The hard work is to be admired how they toiled this sorority year on the pleasant task of "Rekindling the Torch of Friendship."

RITUAL OF JEWELS AND EXEMPLAR DIVISION

Kentucky Delta Omega, Danville

The excellent yearbook that took first place honors in the Ritual of Jewels and Exemplar Division was exquisitely designed and crafted by Kentucky Delta Omega, Danville. The book grabs your attention right away with the theme of "Rekindling the Torch of Friendship" showcased so beautifully. With artistic flourishes throughout its pages, it never disappoints, either in appearance or in the vital information it provides for all the chapter members. It has a removable at-a-glance calendar and member list so members will have easy access to information, and the programs the chapter held during the sorority year are inspiring, all starting with the prefix "re", such as "Rekindle Your Knowledge of your Sorority Sisters", "Revive Those Scrapbooks" and "Relight Your Senses." Just makes you want to reread this fabulous yearbook!

PRECEPTOR, LAUREATE & MASTER DIVISION

Alabama Laureate Sigma, Mobile

This year's first place winner in the Preceptor, Laureate and Master Division is Alabama Laureate Sigma, Mobile. The yearbook is firing up the year with its flaming tribute to the theme "Rekindle The Torch of Friendship". The members, known as the "Red Hot Mommas" created a yearbook that is not only functional and informative, it is sizzling. This chapters programs are engulfed in detail from its purpose and summary, right down to its presentation ideas and list of references. Included are great additions like a quick list, Programs on the Shelf, area City Council information, and information about International and International contests. This is a book sure to ignite this chapter!

RITUAL OF JEWELS AND EXEMPLAR DIVISION

Riding home with second place in the Ritual of Jewels and Exemplar Division is Virginia Xi Zeta Zeta, Williamsburg. This chapter took to the theme with a road trip to “re-discover each other and make new friends along the way”. In keeping with their road trip schema they made several stops on the road to “Rekindling the Torch of Friendship”. They started with a stop at their calendar of events, to know where they are going and where they can rest along the way; and ended with a stop at International, to know where they can go for guidance and direction. Every member got a turn at the wheel as evident by their chapter roster which includes a great photo of each member at the helm.

PRECEPTOR, LAUREATE & MASTER DIVISION

Coming in at second place in this division is Texas Preceptor Eta Chi, Houston who used the history, culture and methods behind the Olympic Torch to express this year's theme. Even the programs showcase the theme using the Olympic games. The outline of chapter activities was well laid out, with great service projects and the calendar is fun and easily accessible as it is eye catching in bright yellow, folded in half and covered with great graphics that really convey the activities. A plethora of information is provided from information about International and the area city council right down to the chapter's own history including past officers and accomplishments. This book is truly one for the history books.

HONORABLE MENTION

2008-2009 YEARBOOKS

RITUAL OF JEWELS AND EXEMPLAR DIVISION

Louisiana Preceptor Alpha Beta, New Orleans brought home honorable mention in their division by grabbing your attention with its vivid colors and playful artwork. This is a hardworking group of sisters as evidenced by their service schedule. They are though just as likely to celebrate Life, Learning and Friendship. The programs are listed in a unique and interesting way with both illustrations and program evaluations for members to fill out after the forums. Their socials included visiting major attractions in the area, and after reading the descriptions of the socials, it is enough to make one rush to the Big easy and join in on their fun!

PRECEPTOR, LAUREATE & MASTER DIVISION

Missouri Alpha Omega Master, Independence took honorable mention in the Preceptor, Laureate and Master division with their elegant yearbook. With a well-thought-out layout that emphasizes Beta Sigma Phi history, and provides members with all pertinent information, it will be a shame for the sorority year to end and to retire this fine annual. The book is all about "Rekindling the Torch of Friendship" and displays profound and moving examples of the theme throughout its pages. It is the kind of book we all wish we had for every aspect of our life, with explanations and pictures!
